objectives

The Made OF Australia internship aims to provide aspiring ceramic artists with a foundation from which they may begin to think about structuring & building their own creative business while learning ceramic skills through instruction, observation, & execution of the day to day tasks required to run a successful arts based practice. Successful applicants will learn skills & refine techniques through task based work, both in the studio (making) & behind the scenes (admin). Future employment is not guaranteed, but an internship may present opportunities for paid work.

expectations

Successful interns will be expected to commit to a set number of days (1-5 days/wk) over an agreed period of time (3-12 mths). The internship will involve a minimum of 50% of the artist's time directly in the studio (slip casting, slab building, wheel throwing, mould making, kiln operations, organic material foraging, saggar firing, post firing prep, sealing) with the rest split between other essential business operations (tax, record keeping, order management, invoicing, logistics, marketing, social media etc.), & other practical skill development (packing/shipping, time management, costing for wholesale & retail environments). A solid work ethic & dedication to learning is essential.

application

Apply by emailing your CV & a cover letter introducing yourself to hello@madeofaustralia.com. Be sure to include your proposed days & length of commitment in your email or cover letter. Work experience references or relevant study transcripts are also welcome.

accommodation

Short or long term accommodation is available if you live far from Made OF Australia's studio in Goonengerry NSW, with the option of full time at $250/week, or overnight stays between consecutive internship days for $50/night. Both include utilities & unlimited internet.
